

KENTUCKY IRISH AMERICAN.

VOLUME XXIII.—NO. 2.

LOUISVILLE, SATURDAY, JULY 10, 1909.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

EXCELLENCE

Marks Selection of Candidates at Democratic Mass Convention.

All Who Have Interest of City at Heart Favor Ticket.

Few Weak Spots and Platform Is Broad Enough For All.

READY NOW FOR THE CAMPAIGN

The Democrats met in convention at Masonic Theater on Friday of last week and nominated candidates for all the municipal and county offices that are to be filled in November. Those competent to judge say that it is not only a good ticket, but the best that has been offered by either party in the history of Louisville. If there are weak spots they are only minor ones, and it is only the hypercritical that are finding fault. Of course it would be impossible to please everybody, but it is the consensus of opinion that the ticket as a whole pleases the great majority of the Democratic voters of the city and county.

W. O. Head, the Democratic nominee for Mayor of Louisville, is a well known business man and has all the city's interests at heart. He is a fitting leader for others on the municipal ticket to follow. All of them have clean records. As for the judicial ticket, where could one find more representative men than the nominees for the two Chancellorships—Shackelford Miller and Samuel B. Kirby; or for the Common Pleas bench—William H. Field, Thomas R. Gordon and Walter P. Lincoln. All are intelligent and able lawyers. With the exception of Attorney Field, all have had experience on the bench. Mr. Field inherits his father's talent as a lawyer and profound thinker. The other nominees for county officials are excellent and show that the delegates did what they believed best for the party.

Herman D. Newcomb and Mark Ryan for State Senators have the respect of all who know them. The nominees for Representatives, for Aldermen, Councilmen, Magistrates and School Trustees were chosen for the best interests of the party. It is a splendid ticket and ought to win. The convention was a harmonious one throughout. Scott Bullitt, the temporary Chairman, in opening the convention made an address that brought all factions together. Norton L. Goldsmith, the permanent Chairman, followed it with another able address, and the platform presented by the Committee on Resolutions and adopted by the delegates is broad enough for all factions to stand upon.

All of the city and county nominees will meet with the City and County Committee at Democratic headquarters at 4 o'clock next Monday afternoon. Resolutions and the coming campaign will be formulated. The names of more than 100 able working Democrats have been suggested for membership on the Campaign Committee. Within a few weeks the campaign will be on in full blast and the district will vie with another in aligning the rank and file of Democratic voters to earnest and effective work.

REWARD OF MERIT.

Member of Division 1 Has Very Good Idea.

Although it was only a day after the big picnic, Division 1 mustered a nice crowd at its meeting Tuesday night. President Thomas Keenan occupied the chair. Secretary Thomas Lawler presented his minutes in a novel and decidedly interesting manner. Thomas Dolan reported the proceedings of the latest County Board meeting, and his report gave great satisfaction.

James Barry, who has been commissioned by State President Butler to do special work in promoting the study of Irish history in the schools, promised a rare literary treat for the next meeting. It will be an open meeting and all of the divisions will be invited to attend.

Thomas Dolan made the hit of the evening in his speech on the promotion of the study of Irish history. Instead of giving medals for proficiency, Mr. Dolan advocated awarding a year's tuition at a higher school, academy or college. For instance, if a boy was most proficient in Irish history in the eighth grade of a parochial school the division was to send him to St. Xavier's College for a year. If a girl was most proficient she was to be sent to one of the several academies in this city. The idea met with popular favor. A committee of five will be appointed to consider the matter and will be announced at the next meeting.

President Keenan made several excellent suggestions along the lines laid down by Mr. Dolan and for the general good of the order. It was decided to invite Attorney J. J. Kavanaugh, who was to have been the orator of the day at Phoenix Hill Park, to address Division 1 at a date to be announced at the next meeting.

FOURTH SON A PRIEST.

Rev. Joseph Finney, C. M., who was recently ordained at Kenrick Seminary, St. Louis, by Archbishop Glennon, is the fourth son of the family to enter the priesthood, all being members of the Vincentian Order. The eldest of the four, Father Thomas O'Neil Finney, though still a young man, only thirty-five years old, is Superior of the Western Province of the Vincentian Order. Rev. Patrick Finney is now President of Holy Trinity College in Dallas, Texas, and Rev. Peter Finney, the third priest, is now professor of theology in St. Thomas Seminary, Denver. All hail from the archdiocese of Cincinnati.

COMING HOME.

Father Huber Won High Honors at Austrian University.

The Rev. Dr. Raphael Huber, O. M. C., is expected to arrive at his old home in this city early next week. He sailed from Naples on June 30 and is expected to arrive at Hoboken, N. J., on Monday next. It will be Father Huber's first visit home after an absence of six and a half years spent at the University of Innsbruck, in the Austrian Tyrol. While there he won many honors and the highest title obtainable.

Father Huber will spend several weeks in Louisville with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Huber, 1142 South Fifteenth street, and will then go to Albany, N. Y., where he will be stationed at the house of the Order of Minor Conventuals. One week from tomorrow he will read his first high mass in the United States at St. Peter's church, and will be assisted by the Rev. Father Jerome Preisser, as deacon, and several other priests as subdeacons and masters of ceremonies. The Rev. Father Leo Greulich, of St. Anthony's church, will preach the sermon. Solemn vespers will be sung in the afternoon at 7:30 o'clock. In the evening at 8:45 o'clock there will be a dinner at St. Peter's rectory for the assembled clergy in honor of the young priest. On July 25 and 26 there will be a reception for the laity of St. Peter's, Father Huber having been one of St. Peter's former boys. Father Huber, M. C. D. D., was ordained at Innsbruck on July 26, 1906, and read his first mass at Grundlessee, Steiermark, Austria, on August 5, and on that occasion he was the guest of the Rev. Count Meran and was extensively entertained. He is a brother of George F. Huber, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George A. Eveslage, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Bossmeyer and Miss Agnes Huber. During his stay in Louisville Father Huber will be at home to his friends, relatives and former schoolmates from 2 until 5 o'clock and 7 until 9 o'clock every Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and evenings.

MACMAHON'S MEMORY.

Frenchmen to Honor Soldier and Statesman With Monument.

Marshal McMahon, Duke of Magenta, to whom a memorial is to be erected in Autun, the district of his birth, in which his family have lived for generations, was the descendant of Patrick McMahon, who having fought bravely in the siege of Limerick, went after the signing of the violated treaty into exile in France, where he lived for the remainder of his life. His son, John McMahon, of Autun, married an heiress and was created Count d'Equilly.

In September, 1749, the Count, who was the grandfather of the famous Marshal, applied to the Irish Government for the day, accompanying his application with the necessary fees, for the officers of the Ulster King of Arms to have his genealogy with the records of his family duly authenticated, collected and recorded. In order that his children and their posterity in France might have all-sufficient proof of the proud fact that they were Irish. This was accordingly done, as may be seen in the Castle archives, countersigned by the Lord Lieutenant of the day and the various other necessary signatories. In these records he is described as of the noble family paternally of McMahon, of Clondra, County Clare, and maternally of McMahon, of the noble family of O'Sullivan Bore.

ANOTHER TUG OF WAR.

That tug of war will have to be pulled all over again. Capt. Thomas Dolan and Lieut. Martin Sheehan, representing the Portland team, have entered a protest against awarding the silver cup to the Limerick aggregation as a result of the contest at Phoenix Hill Park Monday night. The judges have accordingly decided to have the contest over again. This time it will take place at the annual outing of the Ladies' Auxiliary in the near future; the date and the grounds are yet to be determined upon. Capt. Dolan wants his team to meet for practice on the Shippingport grounds at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. Both Limerick and Portland must enter the same teams in the tug of war that is to come. James Curran and Miss Ellen Purcell, who won the Irish breakdown contest, have challenged all local Hibernians and their friends to meet them in another championship contest at the Ladies' Auxiliary picnic.

NEWPORT BRIEFS.

Squire M. F. Donegan is one of the aspirants for the Police Judgeship at Newport, while County Assessor Michael Hogan wants the nomination for County Clerk of Campbell county. Newport is represented at the national reunion of Elks at Los Angeles this week by John H. Weber and wife, Misses Margaret Maher and Nellie Cavanaugh, Henry Brosiering and H. E. Kohnhorst. The following

PATRIOTISM

And Christianity Walked Hand in Hand at Lake Champlain.

Catholic Summer School Scene of Unwonted Activity All Week.

Ringling Word From Cardinal Gibbons the Opening Feature.

MILITARY AND NAVAL PAGEANTS

The people of New York and Vermont spent this week in celebrating the three hundredth anniversary of the discovery of Lake Champlain, but while the New York and Vermont people were the principal ones in the celebration, all the United States and many Canadians were interested in the programme. The initial celebration began last Sunday with a Pontifical high mass in the open air at the Catholic Summer School, Cliff Haven, N. Y., Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, preached the sermon. All the churches of all denominations on both sides of the lake held special services.

The scene was given a more warlike appearance by the encampment of the Twenty-fourth Regiment, United States Infantry, the Fifteenth United States Cavalry and the Second Regiment of New York National Guards. All encamped on the Government reservation at Plattsburg, N. Y. The United States torpedo boat Manley and two revenue cutters were all on the lake to add splendor to the scene. Each day brought its own feature. President William H. Taft, Vice President James S. Sherman and Gov. Hughes of New York, were present on one day during the celebration.

No feature of the week had more interest for Catholics than the sermon preached by His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons last Sunday morning. At the inception of his address the Cardinal recounted the marvelous development of the church by the early martyrs, and then explained that they were there to commemorate the memory of the illustrious Samuel Champlain, who three centuries ago discovered the lake which bears his name. This discoverer, he said, was filled with apostolic zeal for the conversion of the heathen tribes of North America. He told how French missionaries had been crossing the ocean for three centuries after the discovery of America, and of their sufferings and achievements. They carried the torch of faith in one hand and the torch of science in the other.

The Cardinal compared the hardships of the early missionaries to the rapid travel of the present day, and he pointed out the need of the present day with such superior facilities. To the laity he said in part:

"Cherish deep and abiding love for your country and its institutions. No man should be a drone in the social beehive. No man should be indifferent to the moral, social, economic and political issues that affect the public welfare. As you are all protected in your life and property by the arm of a strong and enlightened government, so should you all, according to the measure of your ability, sustain the hands of those who are charged with steering the ship of State. Above all, take an active, personal, vital interest in all that concerns the welfare of religion, without which the republic can not endure."

On Monday there were daylight and evening pageants on the lake depicting scenes in early American history. Gov. Hughes, of New York, and others made speeches. On Tuesday President Taft, Vice President Sherman and Gov. Prouty, of Vermont, made addresses at historic Fort Ticonderoga.

QUICK OCEAN VOYAGE.

Irish men and women who came from Ireland fifty years ago will marvel at the quick trip across the ocean made by the Rev. Father William Ryan, O. S. A., on Sunday, June 27, he celebrated mass in his own church in Ireland. Last Sunday, Terre Haute, Ind. He reached New York July 2 and Terre Haute at noon July 3. He is the guest of his cousin, Mr. Dennis McCarthy, in Terre Haute, and has other relatives in that city.

THORNTON WAS ORATOR.

The people of Lafayette township, Indiana, celebrated their glorious Fourth on Monday with an old fashioned barbecue on the hilltop, near St. Mary's of the Knobs. Hon. Michael J. Thornton delivered one of the most patriotic addresses ever heard in Southern Indiana. "Mike," as he is familiarly known, is one of the most popular young men in Floyd county, and is destined to go higher in Indiana politics.

VETERAN KNIGHT DEAD.

Timothy Clary, an old and respected resident of this city, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Carl Hollenbach, 251 East Madison street, early Thursday morning. The deceased was a native of Ireland, but came to Louisville when quite a young man and for thirty-five years was a faithful employee of the Western Union Telegraph Company. He was sixty-eight years old and his wife, who was Miss Alice McGinn, died five years ago. The following children survive: James Clary, night Superintendent of the Postal Telegraph Company; Joseph P. Clary, of Stewart, Tenn.; Mrs. Carl Hollenbach, Mrs. Martin McGinnis, Mrs. H. J. Presser, all of Louisville, and Miss Anna Clary, of Marion, Ohio. The deceased was brother-in-law of Miss Mary McGinn and Col. Joseph P. McGinn. Mr. Clary was a veteran member of Branch 4, Catholic Knights of America. At the hour of going to press the funeral arrangements had not been completed, but it is probable that it will take place from the Cathedral of the Assumption this morning.

TOBACCO TRADE

Gives Grand Send Off to the Candidacy of W. O. Head.

A special meeting of the Louisville Leaf Tobacco Trade was held Thursday afternoon to express gratification at the selection of W. O. Head as the Democratic candidate for Mayor of Louisville. Charles D. Campbell was made Chairman and F. W. H. Hahn Secretary of the meeting. Many enthusiastic and complimentary remarks were made by various members, regardless of party affiliation. The chair was instructed to appoint a committee of five warehousemen and five buyers to draft suitable resolutions showing the respect and esteem in which Mr. Head is held by the tobacco trade of Louisville. A committee representing the entire interests of the trade was then appointed and the following address was unanimously adopted, and instructions given to the party to send a copy of the proceedings to Mr. Head to the local papers and to the Democratic Campaign Committee:

As the Democratic party of Louisville has selected one of our members as their standard bearer in the coming election and has conferred upon him the distinguished honor of tendering him the nomination for Mayor of our city, an honor that has never been bestowed upon any other member of the tobacco trade by either political party, it is with great pride and much pleasure that we commend your action in nominating Mr. W. O. Head as the Democratic candidate for Mayor of our city, and we as great and growing city, and we as the citizens of Louisville that your selection is a wise one and no mistake has been made. He has devoted the greater part of his life to the tobacco trade and has always taken a conspicuous part in all matters that would enhance the interests of the tobacco business, as well as of the city of Louisville.

Mr. Head is essentially a self-made man. Starting in life as a poor boy, he has by his untiring energy, by his strict attention to business and his honest and upright dealings with his fellow men, gradually climbed the ladder of success until today he is possessed of a sufficiency of this world's goods. He is at the head of our trade organization, the Louisville Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Company, one of the largest and strongest of our business institutions. He is a successful manager of one of the largest warehouses in our market, a Director of the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company, one of the largest and strongest of our business institutions.

If you elect him to the high and honorable office of Mayor he will be the Mayor of all the people; he will not be controlled by any man or set of men, nor by any special interests; he will have a safe conscience, and he will be a true and honest administrator, and the rights and interests of the humblest citizen will receive from him the same consideration as that of the millionaire; he will deal out his fair and honest share to all, with an eye singly to the best interests of the whole people; he will not be a fanatic in any respect, but will fearlessly enforce the laws, regardless of its effect upon the political party or social world. In fact all will get a "square deal."

The foregoing was presented by the committee, composed of the following gentlemen: Charles D. Campbell, Chairman; F. N. H. Hahn, Secretary; L. P. Barnard, John G. Harris, Jordan Owen, Elmer Perkins, James G. Henry, N. C. Shouse, J. A. Robinson, E. J. O'Brien, H. B. Gorin and J. F. Dannenholt.

PARISH TRUSTEES

Named For Two Churches in The Bluegrass Capital.

Trustees have been appointed for St. Peter's and St. Paul's parishes in Lexington. The Right Rev. Bishop Maes named those for St. Paul's. They are Eugene Buchignani, Valentine Fish, J. B. Wallace, John J. Luby, John B. Shannon and James B. Lyons. The new board organized with the Rev. Father O'Connell as ex-officio Chairman, John B. Shannon as Treasurer and James B. Lyons as Secretary.

The Rev. Father William Punch named the following Trustees of the new parish of St. Peter's: J. C. Rogers, John Maloney, John M. Kelly, Con J. Reagan, James Kellar and Fred Fugazzi. As soon as these appointments have been approved by the Bishop the board will organize.

ST. LEO'S OUTING.

Pastor and people are awaiting the arrival of Thursday, July 29, when the annual outing and lawn fete of St. Leo's congregation is to be held on the church lawn at Highland Park. Rev. Father John J. Fitzgerald and his parishioners are working hard to have everything in good shape for the entertainment of visitors, and the members of every parish in the city are invited to be present. Every ticket of admission entitles the holder to a chance on a number of valuable prizes. Supper will be served on the grounds.

THROUGHED

Was Phoenix Hill Park When the Hibernians Held Their Picnic.

Bad Weather Kept Many Away in Afternoon Who Came Later.

Old Timers Foregathered and Swapped Reminiscences of Olden Days.

LIMERICK'S TEAM VICTORIOUS

The Hibernian picnic at Phoenix Hill Park under the auspices of the County Board last Monday was a success, but it would have been more of a success if the weather during the afternoon had been propitious. However, all's well that ends well, and before the crowd broke up at midnight a tidy sum over expenses had been realized. It had been planned to have the speaking and games in the afternoon, but lowering clouds and intermittent showers deterred hundreds from visiting the park.

Nevertheless several hundred Hibernians, many ladies and a number of clergymen were at the park in the afternoon. Of course there were many old time Irishmen among the afternoon visitors. Thomas Shelley, Patrick Holley, Lawrence Smith, Nicholas Holleran, Edward J. O'Brien, Jeremiah Kavanaugh, Thomas Noon, Philip Kelly, Martin Cusick and others whiled away their time reciting reminiscences of former Fourth of July celebrations.

Toward evening the clouds scattered and about 7 o'clock each of the teams brought scores to the park gate. Soon success was assured, and at 9 o'clock the dancing hall was packed and the park thronged with a happy, joyous gathering. The young people wanted to dance and the elders to chat, so the committee called off the addresses and all the events on the programme except the tug of war. Capt. Tom Doan's Portland team and Capt. John H. Hennessy's Limerick team were the contestants, and to paraphrase Shakespeare, "When Limerick meets Portland then comes the tug of war." Both teams had many admirers in the vast throng and there were alternate cheers for Limerick and Portland. It was all over in a few minutes and the judges decided in favor of Limerick.

The committee decided to postpone the address of Attorney J. J. Kavanaugh on "The Irishman, a Maker of History," until the quarterly meeting in September. The dancing floor was in perfect condition and Prof. Denny Collins' orchestra rendered sweet Irish melodies and popular dance music. The dancing continued until midnight, and the happy dancers never seemed to tire of waltzes, two-steps and schottisches. Occasionally an old fashioned quadrille was introduced so that the old timers could shake their feet, and many of them took advantage of it.

George J. Butler, the State President; Patrick J. Welsh, the County President; State Secretary William J. Connelly, D. J. Coleman, Mark Ryan, J. J. Lyons, Thomas Keenan, and other members of the committee in charge were tireless in their efforts to please, and July 5, 1909, will go down in history as one of the most enjoyable affairs ever given by local Hibernians.

ART GLASS WINDOWS.

Advices from Rome this week brought word that Archbishop Farley, of New York, has gone to Munich to arrange for the art windows for the chapel of Our Lady in St. Patrick's Cathedral. There are to be fifteen of these windows representing the fifteen mysteries of the Rosary. The ideas and the treatment of the subjects have been studied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hughes Kelly, of New York, in miniature form. They have been executed by a famous English artist and it is believed the new windows will be the best examples of stained glass in modern times. They are the gift of the Kelly family, which built the chapel of Our Lady of the Cathedral.

ESTIMABLE LADY DEAD.

Mrs. Nancy Seng, one of the best known and most beloved ladies of the West End, died at her home, 2412 West Market street, shortly after noon on Sunday. She had been ill three months and her death was unexpected. Mrs. Seng was born in Londonderry, Ireland, but had lived in Louisville since childhood. Her husband, William Seng, died four years ago. She is survived by three children, Mrs. Edward G. Hill, wife of the well known cashier of the Senn & Ackerman Brewing Company; Miss Mollie Seng and William Seng. The deceased was noted for her numerous charities. The funeral, which was very largely attended, took place from St. Anthony's church Tuesday morning.

ANXIOUS INQUIRER.

Col. Jacob H. Haager has requested the Kentucky Irish American to assist in giving information regarding a family named Higgins. The original inquirer is Michael Murphy, of Oxford, Talbot county, Md. Mr. Murphy writes to inquire of a family named Higgins, two sisters and one brother—Minnie Higgins, aged forty-six; Patrick, forty-four, and Kate, forty-two years. They had two uncles, Patrick and Thomas Higgins, shoemakers and residents of Louisville. Minnie was married twenty years ago. They were born in the County Waterford, Ireland.

In answer to this inquiry the Kentucky Irish American can say that twenty-five or thirty years ago Thomas Higgins and his brother Patrick conducted a shoemaking shop on Seventh street, just south of Oak. A niece, Minnie, came to Louisville and married a man named Fanning. It may be that some one in St. Louis Bertrand's parish can tell some of the later history of the family. If they can they should notify this office or the Chief of Police.

YOUNGEST BISHOP

In Irish Hierarchy Is the New Prelate of Clogher.

The Very Rev. Father Patrick McKenna has been appointed Bishop of Clogher, Ireland, to succeed the late Bishop Owens. The news has been received with delight all over the extensive diocese of Clogher. The Bishop-elect has been for several years professor of theology at Maynooth College, and is a learned and an able man. Bishop McKenna will be the youngest man in the Irish hierarchy.

The new prelate was born in the townland of Moy, parish of Errigal Truagh, County Tyrone, on January 10, 1869, and is consequently thirty years old. He received his primary education in the national school in Tyrone, and in 1883 entered St. Macarten's Seminary, County Monaghan. In 1887 he entered Maynooth College, where his work won adequate recognition. He was ordained in 1894, and at once succeeded to the chair of English literature made vacant by the appointment of the Rev. Dr. Clancy to the See of Elphin. After two years of work as Lecturer on English literature he took up missionary work and labored in the County Monaghan. There he remained a year, and later became professor of dogmatic theology and sacred Scripture at St. Kieran's College, County Kilkenny. In 1904 he returned to Maynooth as professor of theology and was holding that position when appointed Bishop of Clogher.

NOTED WRITER

On Catholic Topics Has Gone to Eternal Reward.

Word was received in Louisville Tuesday afternoon of the death of Mrs. Julia Barry Healy, whose death occurred at her home in New Haven that morning. Mrs. Healy was born in Nelson county, Ky., sixty-nine years ago, and the greater part of her life was spent at New Haven, Conn., where she died from complications of heart disease and asthma. The funeral took place from St. Catherine's church on Wednesday, and a high requiem mass was celebrated for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Father Hogarty. The remains were interred beside those of her late husband, Dr. John Healy, in St. Catherine's cemetery.

The deceased will be remembered by many of the older Catholics of Louisville as the editor of the "Orphans' Garland," a little journal published in this city for the benefit of the orphans in 1875-6-7. Mrs. Healy was educated at St. Mary's Academy, Notre Dame, Ind., and inherited her father's literary taste, as he was the author of several works on recondite subjects, among them a "Life of Christopher Columbus" and "Medical Christian Embryology."

Mrs. Healy wielded a facile pen and her writings have been copied throughout the United States and Canada. Only two of her works have appeared in book form, one of which is entitled "Immortelles of Catholic Columbian Literature." One sister, Mrs. E. C. Hagan, and two brothers, Joseph G. Barry, agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, and John J. Barry, editor of the New Haven Echo, survive her.

NUNS MAKE PROFESSION.

The chapel of Sacred Heart Academy, Crescent Hill, was crowded to overflowing Wednesday morning to witness the profession of a number of young ladies as members of the Ursuline Order. The ceremony was presided over by Father James P. Cronin, V. G., celebrated the mass and was assisted in the ceremonies of profession by the Rev. Father McShane, Chaplain of the Sacred Heart Academy. A score of local clergy was present in the sanctuary. The nuns who made their final vows were Sister Mary Gertrude, formerly Miss Olivia Fremhold, of Indianapolis; Sister Charlotte, Miss Mary Heitz; Sister Johanna, Miss Mary Hollenbach; Sister Mary Magdalen, Miss Mary Schmidt. Those who took the white veil were Misses Angela Wilkens, Anna May Coleman, Wilhelmina Wilkens, Wilhelmina Feldman, Edith Geis, Elsie Richards, Lola Fowler, Mary Halbleib, Mary Caulfield, Minnie Lutz, Hilda Reis, Bertha Cruse, Josephine Lenz, Emma Gohmann, Catherine Obermeier and Elizabeth O'Connell. The ceremonies were quite impressive.

NEW AGENT NAMED.

Thomas W. Keely has been appointed Louisville agent for the William Gerst Brewing Company, of Nashville, Tenn., with office and warehouses at Tenth and Lexington streets. Mr. Keely is a graduate of St. Xavier's College and soon after leaving school took service with the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company as inspector of freight in transit. Later he became chief salesman for the Scanlon Coal Company. He is a popular young business man and his appointment gives general satisfaction.
